

In order for the video to run as a continuous loop, you will need to set the video playback function according to the instructions for the player you intend to use.